When measuring your stairs, answer these questions:

- How many steps do you have? Are there any landings?
- Is your staircase open on one side, or is it fully enclosed?
- How wide are your stairs? How deep are they?

When measuring your kitchen, remember to:

- Document where your cabinets are located
- Show where any open spaces, openings to other rooms are located
- Detail where appliances are located in the room

In each room, make sure to:

- Document entrance and exit doors
- Locate heating/air conditioning vents, heating units (i.e., radiators), and any built in fixtures in the room
- Document the current flooring type, and if you are tearing out the old flooring and replacing with new, or installing the flooring over the current flooring
